Vineyards in Fall 2017

News from the Vineyard

Harvest 2017 was excellent in quality, and we have great expectations from the wine now in tanks and barrels. The 2018 vineyard season is progressing well, with all pruning complete. Next on the work list is vineyard trellis repairs, tying the vines, and un-mounding the protective earth over the rootstock.

News from the winery

The 2017 wines are resting for now, many awaiting their barrels where they will gain intensity, tannins, and smoothness, all while hopefully maintaining their fruity character. We have lots of bottling work to do for earlier vintages. Anyone interested in volunteering for this fun operation, please just give us a call

The Laleure website now contains the events already scheduled for 2018. First for the season is Ed Gorse playing classical guitar on Saturday April 21 at 1:30. Denny Carleton	Friday May 11	7:00 pm	Denny will also give us a short history of music in Cleveland based on his experience in both "The Lost Souls" and perhaps the more well known "Choir" bands during the early days of Rock'n Roll
