News from the vineyard

Vineyards are finally past bud break, with about 1-2 inches of growth. This is nearly 2 weeks later than normal because of our crazily cool spring. Nevertheless, all the vines are in great shape, and no evidence of bud-kill can be seen thanks to the mild winter

News from the winery

The winery has been significantly modified to keep our employees and guests safe. To see our specific pandemic associated rules, please check the website at www.laleure.com and click on Laleure Info

This week we bottled a 2016 Cabernet franc Reserve. It is settling in the bottles, and will be released in the next few weeks

Events

Entertainment at the winery has been off, and on, and off again due to changing interpretation of rules. We will keep you updated on this situation as we get further clarification.
