News from the Vineyard—After 2 tough winters of 2013 & 2014, the past winter was much milder and without the extreme cold which severely damages grape vines. So far in 2016 the vines look great. The canes which were started from the graft during the summer of 2015 are now producing a full crop of buds. Pruning is long finished before bud break, which helps prevent buds from being knocked off the canes in a late pruning. As long as the spring frost settles below the vineyard elevation during cold evenings, as is usually the case at Laleure, we can expect a fairly good harvest in the fall. We are very thankful for that!

Laleure begins our regular hours starting this Friday April 29. We have taken time this spring to revitalize the tasting room and deck with newly painted floors and stained deck, and hope you enjoy them during the season

We did enter a few wines in the Finger Lakes International Wine Competition, with our 2010 Ice Wine taking a silver metal, and the 2012 Cab Franc and 2013 Chardonnay taking bronze. Maybe we should have entered more wines!

We still have our 3 greeters at Laleure, Riesel, Merlin, and Maxi. Maxi has grown to about full height now, and still has his puppy attitude even at 2 years
